

IntelCenter Tempest Chem-Bio Line

Catalog v1.6

World events and the society we live in today have forced First Responders to deal with the threat and potential use of chemical or biological weapons.

During those initial critical moments of an incident, it will be the local First Responders whose actions will mean the difference between life and death. The ability of the First Responder to assess the situation and take an immediate course of action is vital to the successful management of an incident and prevention of further injury.

Tempest's Chem-Bio Line is designed to provide First Responders with the information they need during those critical moments. The various products from the First Responder Chem-Bio Handbook to the Chem-Bio: Quick Response Card are designed around the needs of the First Responder by those who have been First Responders and who also have chem-bio expertise. After completion, our products are continually refined and updated through the implementation of feedback from our clients in new releases.

While it may be impossible to prevent all chem-bio attacks, informed First Responders who will be first on the scene play a major role in mitigating the results of such an attack. It is our goal to help make those efforts as effective as they can be.

Sincerely,
Ben N. Venzke

FlashNet-Terrorism Alert Service

Terrorism and threat alerts sent right to your pager, phone or PDA

(works with SkyTel, AT&T, Nextel, PageNet, Metrocall, Omnisky and other major cell phone, pager and PDA services)

The FlashNet-Terrorism Alert Service provides near instant notification to your pager, cell phone or personal digital assistant (PDA) of significant terrorist events around the world. In order to be able to utilize the service, you need a pager, cell phone or PDA with an email address. Normal email addresses can also be used.

The service is only used for sending out breaking developments. Administrative announcements are not be sent out through the system, nor does it act as a daily news update service. Alerts are only sent out when a significant terrorist event takes place. For instance, the World Trade Center Bombing, East African Embassy Bombing, and strikes against terrorist targets in Afghanistan and Sudan all would have warranted messages. Alerts are also sent out for events which might result in an immediate increased threat, such as the arrest of someone like Osama bin Laden or a threat by a terrorist group to launch an imminent attack.

This is not an automated news service. A watch group of intelligence and counterterrorism professionals based around the world monitors various sources of information, both primary and secondary source, for the latest developments. This information is then directly entered into the dissemination system when warranted and ultimately ending up on your cell phone or pager within minutes.

A few key facts:

- Messages are limited to around 100 characters.
- Cell phones/pagers/PDAs must have an email address for the service to work.
- Messages only sent for significant developments.
- Quantity discounts for agencies are available.
- Alerts are sent out by intelligence/counterterrorism professionals.
- Service currently in use by intelligence, military, law enforcement, and first responder communities
